When Cindad Rodvigo was stormed, the flower of the English army was selected for the "forlorn hope;" they, veterans as they were, never moved with firmer step or more solid col-umn than did the 2nd Division of the 19th Army Corps, in the attack of yesterday upon the right of the enemy's position. With an impetuous charge, the 6th Michigan and the 128th New York carried the enemy's works at the point of the bayonet; but they were compelled to give way, for the enemy had massed his troops here, and it became necessary for our glorious fellows to fall back before overwhelming numbers. Not much ground was lost, however; we only failed to maintain our position within the main works. The 2nd Regiment Louisand when they came out are out of nine hundred men could not be accounted for. It is said on every side that they fought with the desperation of ligers.
